The 2020 Project campus expansion represents a commitment by the State of California and the University of California to increase access to the UC system for eligible state students and to support a rapidly growing region. The 1.2 million GSF project is being designed and built in three phases between 2016 and 2020. The project is being implemented as a master planned initiative developed by a world-class team of architects, planners, engineers and construction professionals. The design and construction budget is $1.3 billion and includes 13 buildings and supporting infrastructure. Every building will achieve at least a LEED Gold certification.
